

From blue print to masterpiece Building landmarks for the new generation A generation is known by the landmarks of its times. Each era has left its own distinctive trace on the cultural blueprint of the world. From the Roman and Victorian to the Art Decor and Futuristic themes of modern times, the objective of architecture in every generation is not only to provide comfortable living, working or public spaces but also to reflect the cultural ethos of its times.