Everybody wants to look good, feel good and make others feel good about themselves. On the same side, there has been a lot of study on part of fashion consumers. They want products that are healthy, make a complete statement about the person in question.